

Cisco Stack monitoring

We use Cisco 3750 switches and have moved most everything from Intermapper to Solarwinds. Intermapper had a great probe that allowed for monitoring of the switch stack state. If there was a switch that dropped out of the stack it would show a problem that 1 switch dropped out of the stack. This is something that is really missing from the product and should be default to the NPM module.